Max Lytvyn, Alex Shevchenko, and Dmytro Lider founded Grammarly in 2009 with the goal of helping people communicate more effectively. Focusing first on supporting students' grammar and spelling through a subscription-based product, they soon saw the potential of how Grammarly could help in all circumstances from professional writing to everyday correspondence. Over the next ten years, Grammarly grew the capabilities of an AI-powered writing assistant to go way beyond grammar and spelling into complex aspects of language and communication.

Today Grammarly offers an intuitive, real-time interface that's there for people wherever they type, through browser extensions, a web-based editor, a Microsoft Office add-in, a desktop interface, and mobile keyboards. A free version of its assistant, introduced in 2015, ensures that anyone who needs to communicate in English has access to essential writing support.

Visva-Bharati Library Network has subscribed Grammarly for the period 01 April 2021 to 31 March 2022 VB. IMPORTANT LINKS:

Academic Earth [<https://academicearth.org/>]: Academic Earth was launched on the premise that everyone deserves access to a world-class education. In 2009, we built the first collection of free online college courses from the world's top universities. The world of open education has exploded since then, so today our curated lists of online courses are hand selected by our staff to show you the very best offerings by subject area. They provide online degree courses from accounting and economics to engineering and also carry material on niche subjects like behavioural psychology. Moreover, it has had collaboration with a bunch of reputed colleges such as University of Oxford, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Stanford University and many others. We also make sure there is something for everyone: whether you want to explore a new topic or advance in your current field, we bring the amazing world of academia to you for free.

Coursera [<http://coursera.org/>]: Coursera was founded in 2012 by two Stanford computer science professors (Professors Daphne Koller and Andrew Ng) with a vision to provide anyone, anywhere with access to the world's best education. The moment a student opens this website, he is bound to get sucked into the number of courses available in his topic of interest. It is a user-friendly website. Students can find big universities and a sharable electronic Course Certificate. Every course on Coursera is taught by top instructors from world-class universities and companies, so you can learn something new anytime, anywhere.
